It is tendered for compression and shipment.

"4. We consider it to be the duty of compress to stencil mark cotton distinctly between bales and nothing but the best quality of ink obtainable; also to obliterate all other marks, except the head brand and shipping mark, but if the shipper fails to furnish the compress with a good quality of closely woven patching, which is the only kind that will retain a flexible stencil mark, we contend that the compress should not be responsible for the mark being indistinct at destination.

"5. We recommend that this association adopt a resolution rescinding all former actions with respect to standard gin box, and go on record as advocating a gin box of 24x54 inches as being our standard.

"We believe that present minimum density of 22½ pounds per cubic foot at the shipside is proper and that the penalty for insufficient density on all standard bales is properly chargeable to the interior compress, but we contend that if non-standard bales are tendered to the compress the compress should not be held responsible for its inability to obtain the required density on same.

"It is the unanimous opinion of this committee that a large percentage of the conditions complained of and under discussion can be reduced, if not eliminated by proper attention at the point of origin, and that the relation between the carrier and compresses should be such that clearances given the compresses by the carriers at the time of delivery or loading should set forth the true condition of the cotton, so that the responsibility can therefore be fixed for the interest of all concerned."

Shippers Were Called.

Following the statement of the compress men, representing as they said, all but four of their class in Texas and Oklahoma, which would make their action in any matter strong, the chair called upon the cotton shippers for a word of their position. This did not meet their approval, as there were cries of "railroads' railroads!" all over the house, intimating that the shippers wanted to hear from that branch of the conference. Chairman Leland stated that the railroads had prepared their side of it in the manner of the compress men, but the resolutions were being printed for distribution and were not ready.

"Mr. Wolfe, for the shippers, was called. Mr. Wolfe said that the shippers were "between the devil and the deep blue sea" already in the stand of the steamship men and compresses, and that they wanted to hear from the railroads before they could say anything. J. L. West of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad came forward and said that the printed matter had just been delivered and with permission from the chairman would be distributed.

Railroad Men's Side.

This was done and Mr. West also read a copy from the platform. It was as follows:

"Resolved, That when wet bales have been delivered to the steamer, and at the shipper's request permitted to dry out before the receipt is given, that the receipt be given bales have been wet and dried.

"Resolved, That bales are to be well marked or branded so the marks can be read without any question of doubt; bales to be marked with good quality of ink that does not fade, wash or rub away; marks to be placed between the bands so that no part of the mark will be covered by the bands; no other marks to be allowed upon the bale except the head-brand (if any), and the mark under which the bale is moving for export. All other marks to be thoroughly obliterated so that no part of any old mark will appear, except the head brand, upon which the gin marks should be allowed to remain, as this mark is very essential to the shipper and will in no way affect the mark under which the bale is being carried. When the quality of baling is insufficient to carry the marks plainly to destination, a patch of good bagging or cloth, bearing the mark, shall be put on the bale under the hand. This shall be considered a baling and legally marked, and the shipper will be strictly adhered to and no one has the authority to pass any cotton condemned for this reason.

"Resolved, That the following clause be incorporated in all freight contracts for cotton and cotton linters:

"The standard bale gin box of 24x54 inches is the basis of this freight engagement, and cotton and cotton linters must be of a minimum density on delivery to the steamer of 22½ pounds per cubic foot for each bale.

"Any bale that does not show this density, if not repressed to the required density, shall pay an extra freight rate of fifty (50) cents per bale.

"Bales of larger measurement that cannot be pressed to a minimum density of 22½ pounds per cubic foot, side, shall pay an extra freight of one dollar per bale.

"Resolved, That the room covered by the freight contract shall not be relied without the consent of the steamship agent. That contracts bear a clause to this effect:

"Shippers to Reach Producers.

Mr. West added that the railroads could not reach the carrier, and that at that point lay a great deal of the trouble. Rather, the origin of the trouble was the origin of the trouble. This statement was brought out when a compress man rose and said that no matter how badly they desired to deliver a bale, it was not possible when he bale came to the compress stained, half packed and half covered. They, the compresses, could not give the bale another wrapping to insure its value. When this point was made, Mr. West said that under the present laws of inland shipping, a bale of cotton as ginned was considered a well wrapped bale and had to be hauled to the compress by them as common carriers. The shippers would have to specify the matter with the producer, as the producer was the only man among them who could reach the ginners under the present status.

The meeting had reached the end of the time allotted for the morning session at this point and was adjourned for the time, with a call for 2 o'clock. It is the understanding of the convention that some action will be taken by them during the day that will not necessitate a "run-over" session Saturday morning.

The afternoon was devoted to the cotton shippers, who speak last. At a caucus held at the cotton exchange building at 2:30 o'clock, the following men were chosen as speakers for the shippers: Hugh Miller of Galveston, Mr. Andrews of Houston, W. C. Lawson of Waco, W. J. Neale of Waco, H. N. Bennett of Little Rock, Messrs. King, Fraser and Marcus of Dallas.

Great Demand for Cards to Attend Session at Which Miss Wilson Will Speak.

Richmond, Va., April 11.—A change in the program of the fourth biennial convention of the Young Women's Christian Association meeting tomorrow night was made necessary today by the very large demand for cards of admission to St. Paul's Episcopal church, at which addresses will be delivered by Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, daughter of President Wilson, and Miss Elizabeth Dodge of New York.

When informed that hundreds of women would be turned away, Miss Wilson and Miss Dodge promptly announced that they would speak at two meetings, although the local committee doubt their ability to supply cards to all who wish to attend.

"What the association means to the college" will be discussed by Miss Wilson, while Miss Dodge will speak on "What the association means to the city girl."

HIGHWAY BILL IS CONSTITUTIONAL

SO RULES THE ATTORNEY GENERAL IN REGARD TO THE TERRELL MEASURE.

GOVERNOR WILL PROBABLY SIGN

Law Officer Passes on All Points Submitted by the Executive and Ruling is Favorable.

Austin, April 11.—The Terrell highway commission bill today was declared constitutional by the attorney general's department. The measure was submitted several days ago for an opinion upon three different questions, which the governor believed to be in contravention of the state constitution. The bill creates a state highway department and a state highway engineer, but did not specify the tenure of office of the engineer. It also provided for the collection of an annual tax of one dollar on all motor vehicles and three dollars on automobiles. The terms of office of the highway commissioner was fixed at six years, instead of two years. These points, the governor believed unconstitutional. In answer the department held that where the tenure of office had not been specifically named, that inasmuch as the office was a state office, the two year requirement of the constitution would prevail. In the matter of the constitutional requirement that all revenue bills must originate in the house, the department held that there was a distinction between bills for revenue raising and a bill that incidentally produces revenue. It was also held that under the recent amendment to the constitution, that bounties as named in the bill came under the provision and so six year terms may apply. Governor Colquitt will likely sign the bill.

Work of the Legislature.

Austin, April 11.—Times hundred and sixty-two bills of various nature have passed through the hands of Governor Colquitt and been recorded with the secretary of state. Fully enough more have been returned to the senate and house for correction to bring the number up to 400.

A record is kept only of the bills signed, and those vetoed since the adjournment of the legislature. There are twenty bills still in the hands of the governor to be acted upon.

The record of the governor's office shows that 207 house bills have been considered, disregarding those returned to the house, of which number 188 have been filed with the secretary of state as laws and nine vetoes have been filed.

The senate record includes 132 bills sent to the governor, of which number 127 have been signed and five vetoes. This is also disregarding the number returned to the senate. Thirteen house concurrent resolutions were approved by Governor Colquitt and one senate concurrent resolution.

Senate joint resolutions, numbered seven, while the house sent to the governor one joint resolution. Only one senate substitute bill and no house substitute bills are recorded. It is known that at least four bills now in the hands of the governor will be vetoed.

Millers Give Tariff Views.

Chicago, April 11.—The proposed tariff on flour and wheat was denounced in resolutions today at the annual convention of the Millers' National Federation. The millers do not want any tariff protection, but urged that if a tariff be placed on wheat that an equaling tariff be placed on the products of wheat, and that if the products of wheat be admitted free, that wheat also be admitted free of duty.

MORGAN'S CORPSE ON NATIVE SOIL

SHIP CARRYING BODY REACHES NEW YORK IN DRIVING RAIN.

FUNERAL SERVICES MONDAY

Casket Lies Among Art Treasures In Dead Financier's Private Library—Tributes Many.

New York, April 11.—The body of J. Pierpont Morgan lies tonight among the art treasures of his private library. It reached New York on the steamer France in a driving rain this afternoon and at dusk was taken from the ship's mortuary chapel, stowed in heavy velvet and resplendent in silver and gold, to a motor hearse, which conveyed it from the pier to the funeral home. Hundreds braved the drenching rain and stood in the streets to watch it pass.

Among the rare bronzes, costly paintings and other art objects which he brought here from Europe, the body of the dead financier was, in his state until Monday morning, when the funeral services will be held in St. George's Protestant Episcopal church. Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee, the dead financier's daughter, and Miss Helen Morgan Hamilton, his granddaughter, the only women in the funeral party, were met aboard the vessel by Mrs. J. P. Morgan Jr.

The three women left in an automobile for the Morgan home before the body was removed. J. P. Morgan, son of the dead man, met the France at quarantine, remained aboard with Herbert L. Satterlee, H. H. Harjes, a partner in the Morgan banking firm in Paris, and Dr. George Dixon, Joseph S. Morgan, grandson of the financier, joined the party when the vessel docked.

The casket passed between a double file of the ship's company, standing at attention with bared heads in the passageway, while the ship's orchestra played, "The Star Spangled Banner."

Attendants, bearing some of the floral offerings, followed the funeral party to the hearse.

Through the driving rain the hearse slowly carried its burden to the Morgan home. Two automobiles followed it, one conveying Messrs. Morgan, Satterlee, Harjes and Dixon, the other the servants and students. Mr. Morgan's body had reposed during the trip was thrown open after the casket had been taken away, and the ship's officers and crew tripped silently down to see it. The catafalque, on which the casket had rested, was draped with its great covering of black, with a gold-embroidered cross in the center. In this chapel J. P. Morgan Jr. that was looked for the first time upon the dead body of his father when he boarded the France at quarantine.

MAPS SCENIC ROUTE

D. E. COLP COMES INTO WACO AFTER A LONG AUTO TRIP.

Picks Up Prof. R. J. Potts, State Highway Engineer at A. & M. College, on the Trip.

Arriving at 7:30 o'clock last night after an automobile trip of 245 miles over what is to be called the "scenic route," which is to join the Meridian road from Waco to the Gulf, D. E. Colp of San Antonio, one of the chief promoters of the good roads movement in Texas, will start this morning to "log" the southern part of the Meridian road, going over the route from Waco to San Antonio.

Some time ago at the meeting held some time ago at Waco, under the direction of Mordis Falkner, chairman for this county, would "log" the road from Waco to Austin, and Mr. Colp would take it up at Austin and carry it to San Antonio. The Waco Automobile owners were busy, and as Mr. Colp had to go over the scenic route, he agreed to cover all the mileage between Waco and San Antonio.

He left San Antonio Thursday morning at 1 o'clock, accompanied by Frank V. Ellsworth. At Marble Falls he was joined by Robert J. Potts, state highway engineer, who is professor of highway engineering at A. & M. College of Texas. Mr. Barnes joined at Lampasas. They went from San Antonio to Boer's Johnson City, Lampasas, Gatesville, thence to Clifton, Morgan Glen Rose and into Cleburne, where they joined the Meridian road. There is a dispute, however, about the route between Lampasas and Glen Rose. Hamilton and Hico people demand that it go from Lampasas to Hamilton, then to Hico and then to Glen Rose. From the scenic route the road comes from Clifton to Waco. At Meridian there was a meeting attended by 1500 people, there being several hundred from Coryell county present. It was the biggest meeting ever held in Meridian.

The next monthly meeting is to be at Gatesville May 5 and the next will be at Lampasas June 7 and at the June meeting there will be a settlement of the scenic route, for which Hamilton and Gatesville are rivals. Prof. Potts is one of the best practical road engineers in the south. He has been studying the question for years. He was the pioneer in Texas in the agitation for a cross state highway, and in 1910 mapped a road across the state. He goes from here to Thornton today, to attend a big meeting there tonight.

Probing United Fruit Company.

New York, April 11.—Investigation of the United Fruit company has begun by the federal grand jury here, it was learned tonight, to find out whether evidence can be obtained to warrant proceedings against the company under the Sherman anti-trust law. Witnesses who have been examined, it is understood, include subordinate officials of the company and officers and employees of independent fruit companies. The investigation was ordered by the Taft administration. The investigation is likely to be continued before the grand jury for another week or two.

THE CUBIST DEFINED MANY LIKE TO KNOW

From all sides the query has come to this editor concerning the Cubist-Pictorialist school of art which is so much under discussion all over this country. When the artists themselves do not know clearly what they are trying to develop, it stands to reason that a mere amateur can not throw much light upon the subject. The following from no less a know-all than the New York Times, which is in the whirlpool of the agitation, indicates that there is as yet but little to say upon the subject as a new art school. In the query column of the Times is asked:

"Will you kindly explain in the meaning of the term 'cubist' and oblige many seekers after knowledge?"

And this is the reply from the Times:

"The 'cubists' are so called because they seek to express in art the third or cubic dimension, and that is all the explanation."

HOME COMING EXERCISES FOR GIRLS' COLLEGE

In handsomely arranged invitations the board of trustees and the faculty together with the students of the College of Industrial Arts invites prominent men and women throughout Texas to attend the Home Coming exercises at the college during the coming week. Besides the many graduates from the college together with parents of present students, will be present. The little town of San Antonio is interested, since it was they who first introduced the good from study of the Industrial Arts to the young women of this state. Also, women for the first time in the history of education in Texas were placed upon the board of regents, which position Mrs. F. C. Cameron of this city now holds.

Society Notes.

Owing to the illness in her family, Mrs. Howell McCullough will defer her entertainment of the Young Married Ladies' Euchre club. The hostess for the coming Wednesday will be Mrs. Hugh McLendon, Eighth and Columbus street.

Miss Monette Colgin will extend her visit to Albany until the twentieth when she will be accompanied home by Miss Camille Webb, who will be in the bridal party of Miss Anna Downs at Temple on the twenty-third.

DRINKING LEADS CAUSE.

Figures of Chicago Court Cites Home-Wrecking Violations.

Chicago, April 11.—Drinking, by an overwhelming majority, is the cause of the wrecking of most homes whose affairs come under the Chicago court of domestic relations in the last year.

Three thousand six hundred and ninety-nine cases were heard this year. Following are the causes of domestic trouble as tabulated by Judge Gemmill:

Liquor, 42 per cent; immorality, 14 per cent; disease, 13 per cent; ill temper, 11 per cent; wife's parents, 8 per cent; husband's parents, 1 per cent; married too young, 4 per cent; laziness, 2 per cent; miscellaneous, 6 per cent.

"More than $150,000 has been collected and turned over to dependent wives and children during the year," said Judge Gemmill. "Perhaps the best feature of the court's record is that the reconciliations have been brought about in about 53 per cent of the cases coming before us."

Bill to Direct Pay Days.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 11.—The senate bill providing for two pay days a month for workers in this state was passed by the house tonight without opposition and goes to the governor for his action. The proposed law would require one payment between the first and fifteenth of each month and another between the fifteenth and last day of the month unless otherwise stipulated in a contract. The penalty of violation is a fine of not over $100 and the act is to become effective on July 1, 1913.

Amundsen Gets Privilege.

New York, April 11.—A report issued from Christiania, Norway, is to the effect that the United States government has offered Captain Amundsen, when he starts on his north pole expedition, the honor of allowing his vessel, the Fram, to be the first vessel to pass through the Panama canal. The Fram is now in South American waters.

AFTER BUSINESS FOR INDEPENDENTS

STEAMSHIP MEN HERE FOR PRIVATE CONFERENCE WITH WACO SHIPPERS.

WILL NEW CONCERN STICK?

That Question Is Causing Texas People to Hesitate Before Giving Up Present Relations.

Just what method of competition is to be adopted by the New York Sea-board and Gulf Steamship company, to take the business away from the old coastwise companies, has not yet developed, but that there is a "then on" is indicated by the frequent visits that are being made to the cities of the state by the officers of the company.

The Morgan and the Mallory lines operate between New York and Galveston. There has recently been protests against the periodic advance in rates by the two companies, there appearing to be a unanimous feeling among the two concerns whenever rates were advanced. The new company, which is said to be an independent factor in coastwise shipping, operates between New York and Galveston.

Yesterday E. S. Hughes, the president of the new steamship company, and E. G. Warfield, general manager, met a number of Waco shippers in the office of the Waco Freight Bureau in the Appleton building. Charles L. Sanger presided at the meeting, and matters generally were discussed, but no report of the meeting was given out. It is understood, however, that the independent company is seeking to form some agreement with Texas shippers that will assure them a permanent business, so they will be justified in adding to their fleet a number of vessels to make the coastwise trade.

This is not the first effort that has been made to create a company to compete with the Mallory and the Morgan lines for coastwise trade, but the efforts in the past have been spasmodic and have not resulted in building up a permanent competing line.

Just what the president of the new line and his general manager are asking of the Texas people in addition to the business they want thrown their way, is not disclosed, but there is something disclosed by the statement after the meeting, "there is nothing to give out just now."

It is known the independent company wants to buy another boat or two. This has been discussed several times and if the independent company can be secured it will be done.

In the meantime the Texas shippers hesitate about giving up the relations with the Mallory and the Morgan lines until they can be assured that the independent company will be able to hold its own and keep its ships moving, and will not establish friendly relations with its rivals, the two old companies.

BOARD IS TO FIGHT MALARIA

St. Louis, April 11.—A malarial commission was organized today as a department of the National Drainage congress to make a careful investigation of malaria throughout the United States and represent at the drainage congress next year a plan for systematic warfare on the disease. Dr. William A. Evans in an address said that by an energetic campaign the disease could be eradicated from the United States in four or five years.

There will be many visitors in Waco Sunday morning from points in the trade territory of this city, the usual Sunday excursions of the summer season being inaugurated by the Missouri, Kansas & Texas and the Texas Central roads.

The latest of the trains to reach Waco will be here by 11 a. m., which will give a chance for those who desire to attend church. Some of those coming will be here to attend the ball game, some to visit friends, some to talk over business matters, and some will attend public worship. The fact that a number of important religious services are advertised for Sunday will be an inducement to a large number to visit here.

Trains on the Texas Central will start from Cisco and from Cross Plains, and the two sections will unite at DeLeon. The time of departure from Cisco Sunday morning is 5:25 a. m. The fare from Cisco, Mangum, Carbon, Cross Plains, Pioneer and Rising Star is only $2 for the round trip.

From Gorman, Rucker, Sipe Springs, Duster, DeLeon, Comyn and Dublin the fare is only $1.75 for the round trip.

There will be a revival meeting through the efforts of the nine Baptist churches of Waco Sunday, and some of the most prominent speakers in the southern church will be at several of the churches. This will be a big attraction among church people, and those in the nearby towns who are interested will take advantage of the excursion to come. The Texas Central train will leave for the return trip at 8:30 o'clock in the evening.

Train From Dallas and Fort Worth. There is to be a train from Dallas also on Sunday. It will leave Dallas at 8 a. m. and arrive at Waco at 1 o'clock of the afternoon. From Dallas, Lancaster, Red Oak, Sterrett and Waxahachie the round trip fare will be $1.50; from Fort Worth, Italy and Milford it will be $1.25, and from Hillsboro the rate will be $1 for the round trip.

Is in Good Shape.

Laying Hens are Shown in Window

Just "So Different" From Any Other Display That Eggs Attract Much Attention.

While one naturally expects something "so different" at Stubbfield's 418 Austin street, those who were out "show window shopping" last night were not exactly prepared for a "henery" on main street.

The egg question is one which is a continual bother to the housewife. She is disappointed when she breaks a dozen and gets a couple of good ones; she is suspicious when prices go up and she has an idea that the high cost of living is drawing the eggs from under the setting hens, and the continual search is for an egg that is good and an egg dealer who will carry the fresh ones. This show window of Stubbfield's was fixed up as a poultry yard. There are a half dozen hens in the back ground—Brown Leghorns—the kind which lay the year round. Arranged in the center of the window is a center piece that has much the appearance of one of those dainty flimsy tables that mother spreads on the table. This is formed of brown and white eggs—big eggs at that. All round are baskets of eggs neatly packed and ready for delivery.

The display proposes to show real hens which lay real eggs and to show also the eggs. It also is an exhibit of the excellent manner in which these eggs are packed for Stubbfield by the Pig Four Ice and Cold Storage company. It is an attractive display and will go a long way toward maintaining confidence in eggs.

Harris to Succeed Durand.

Washington, April 11.—W. J. Harris, Democratic state chairman of Georgia, will be nominated by President Wilson tomorrow to be director of the census to succeed E. Dana Durand. Many minor nominations including several land office appointments will be sent to the senate tomorrow. As the state department has not yet received a formal answer from Great Britain as to acceptability of Walter H. Page for ambassador to the court of St. James, that nomination probably will not be made until next week.

AN ELECTION IN MAY

SCHOOL BOARD FIXES DATE TO VOTE ON FOUR OF THE TRUSTEES.

Other Matters Disposed of Are Shown in Statement Handed Out By Superintendent.

Supt. J. C. Lattimore of the public schools hands out the following:

The school board met in postponed regular session at 4 p. m. Thursday in the board room. Present Chairman J. C. West, Messrs. W. B. Morrison, W. B. Brazelton, W. E. Darden, E. Rotan, S. H. Smith, Supt. J. C. Lattimore and Clerk E. H. Vaden.

The minutes of the meeting of March 25 were read and approved.

It being reported to the board that someone had purchased property very close to the colored high school with the intention of using the building for a hide house the board instructed the superintendent to make necessary inquiries and if he found such to be the case to give the owner suitable notice that if such use of the building should cause a nuisance the board would be compelled to take necessary steps to protect the school therefrom.

The superintendent submitted the accompanying report and recommendations.

Learning that Miss Jessie T. Rich, of the University of Texas, is in Waco, the board requested the superintendent to extend to her an invitation from the board asking her to visit the domestic science department in the schools and make such criticism and suggestions as she sees fit for the improvement of what is now being done in this work in the schools.

The superintendent was instructed to get the city engineers' department to locate the meter and bounds of the North Seventh street school and should he find any intruders upon any part of said property to take necessary steps to remove them and protect the property.

The board authorized a holiday Monday, April 21, San Jacinto day.

The board granted the superintendent's request for the privilege to purchase from time to time professional books and books bearing upon the administration side of school problems for the benefit of teachers and school officials same to be kept in the superintendent's office.

At the request of the superintendent, Mr. Darden was appointed to advise with the superintendent in all matters regarding questions of the conformity of plans and specifications of new school buildings in Waco with the provisions of a law recently enacted by the legislature governing heating, lighting, ventilation and sanitation in school houses hereafter to be created in this state.

Election is May 3.

The school board ordered an election on May 3 to be held in accordance with the state laws governing such elections for the purpose of electing four trustees for the schools at Waco, to serve for the ensuing two years, the president and secretary to attend to the details necessary for the carrying out of this order.

The board decided to secure Mrs. J. B. Sherwood to deliver three stereoscopic lectures in the high school auditorium, said lectures to be free to all pupils and patrons of the schools. Mr. Rotan was requested to convey to Mrs. Sherwood notification of this action of the board.

A letter was read from the state superintendent notifying the board of the change in state scholastic age from the present ages, 7 to 17, to the ages 7 to 21.

The superintendent reported that since the last meeting he had a conference with Rev. R. A. Burroughs, superintendent of the Methodist Orphanage, regarding the admission of the orphanage children into the city schools next session. After considering the matter from all viewpoints he does not wish the orphanage children except probably in the case of the more advanced grades, to attend the city schools, preferring to keep them at the orphanage, and requests the continuance of the same plan now followed.

Canal Work Continues.

Giant Shoulder of Rock Falls Into the Cut.

Washington, April 11.—A giant shoulder of rock that for the past few years had prevented a mountain of earth from slipping into Culebra cut on the Panama canal, has at last given way, and according to official reports, the earth has moved into the canal a distance of eighty feet and is still traveling.

A battery of steam shovels is now tearing away at the earth and rock. At the end of March thirty-two of these engines were working in the canal at that point and besides this many other shovels were engaged in terracing the banks and in miscellaneous operations.

As a result the obstacle has been so far overcome that the excavation has reached grade in all but 8,000 feet of the ten miles length of the cut. By October 1, five and a half million yards of material will have been taken out by the steam shovels, when the water will be turned in and the shovel will retreat before the dredges, leaving them between two and three million cubic yards of material to remove.

Up to January 31 last the United States government had expended on the canal $281,702,639.55.

Engineer Killed.

Weldon, Mo., April 11.—A locomotive driver was killed and passengers badly shaken when the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific passenger train No. 27, westbound, crashed head-on into a switch engine here early today. A steel mail coach saved many passengers.

Frost at Fort Worth.

Fort Worth, Tex., April 11.—Another heavy frost fell here last night, the third of the month. Little is left of the fruit and vegetables.

Pressed steel is largely taking the place of forgings in the construction of automobile engines.

GORMAN INVESTIGATES

FINDS THAT CRITICISM OF THE CITY ENGINEER IS NOT JUSTIFIED.

Inspector on all the Work on North Fifth Street and Curbs Were Reset.

That information gathered by himself shows that criticism of the city engineer, said to have been freely indulged in by certain residents of North Fifth street, is entirely unjustified, was the statement of P. A. Gorman, commissioner of streets, at the regular commission meeting yesterday morning.

This criticism is said to have arisen as the result of the re-setting of the sidewalk curb along North Fifth, preparatory to paving. Mr. Gorman made a statement to the commissioners of his investigation. This statement related that when the contract for paving North Fifth street was let the Texas Bitulithic company was the lowest and best bidder; that that company's bid called for charge for re-setting the curb; that at the time the paving was done there were five paving jobs in progress in Waco, therefore the engineer could not give his entire time to one job; that an inspector, a graduate of the A. and M. college was employed as inspector on the North Fifth street work, and that this inspector reports directly to the city engineer. He further stated that investigation showed that all curbs had been re-set, as the inspector's report showed. He further explained that in re-setting a curb the curb is sometimes only raised or lowered, and that this work, while necessary, could be done without disturbing the curb and could be done without the knowledge of the casual observer. As an example of mistakes which property owners make in these matters, he cited where the city engineer's father had been charged with 109 feet of curb re-set, while he had only 39 feet of frontage. The additional charge was for the return curb at the corner. He also stated this same trouble was experienced on Austin street when the paving was laid on that street.

He further advised the commission that it should secure affidavits from the inspector and also from the bitulithic people showing the re-setting work done on this street, and also hear any property owner along the street, who had criticism. His investigation, however, he said, had convinced him the criticism was unjust.

Petitions from residents of two streets were read at the meeting asking their streets be paved. These were North Second street, from the corner of the square to Washington street, about a half block.

The matter was referred to Commissioner Gorman and the city attorney and Mr. Gorman recommended the same material be used as was used in paving the square. The other street was North Thirteenth, from the north line of Jefferson to the south line of Barron street. This is a continuation of Twelfth street paving. This was also referred to Mr. Gorman.

A Bavarian newspaper estimates, after a careful review of the wars of the last fifty years that over 2,000,000 men have been killed in battle. Two others in the number of lives lost are the Crimean war, which is held responsible for 750,000 lives, and the American civil war, 800,000.

I will give you FREE a sample of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets that have brought health and happiness to thousands—also a book on any chronic disease requested.

During many years of practice I have used numerous combinations of curative medicines for liver ills. I have kept a record of the result in case after case, so that my staff of physicians and surgeons, at the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., are able to diagnose and treat cases at a distance with uniform good results.

But for the permanent relief of blood disorders and impurities, I can recommend my "Golden Medical Discovery," a blood medicine without alcohol or other injurious ingredients.

Nature's Way Is The Best

Buried deep in our American forest we find bloodroot, queen's root, mandrake and stone root, golden seal, Oregon grape root and cherrubark. Of these Dr. R. V. Pierce made a pure glyceric extract which has been favorably known for over forty years. He called it "GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY." This "Discovery" purifies the blood and tones up the stomach and the entire system in Nature's own way. It is just the tissue builder and tonic you require.

Expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.

Sold in tablet or liquid form by all principal dealers in medicines, or send fifty one-cent stamps for trial package of tablets.

There are many opinions as to how Waco should get its name up, but only one opinion as to the need of getting its name up. Praise be, the day of the "sufficient unto ourselves" sermon has passed forever.

The Pennsylvania legislative committee that reported there are "many useless positions about the legislature" failed to include the most striking examples of such—the positions of representative and senator.

FOR THE SCHOOLS. NOT FOR SUFFRAGE.

Several prominent women school directors in the San Antonio school board, with fair prospects. Though no rabid suffragettes, these women aspire to positions which may be filled by them to singular advantage, since the schools and homes are but slightly removed one from the other. In matters of education, for many years, women have taken a leading part, at all times displaying tact and discernment, and it is our belief that they will make admirable members of the San Antonio board. Here in Corpus Christi, we know of several women who might be inducted into office without retarding educational progress, and it is only a question of time until these women will be recognized and given an opportunity to display their talents.—Corpus Christi Caller.

Since the above was written, San Antonio voters, under their amended charter for the school system, recently acquired of the legislature, have elected to the board of trustees the Messdames Eli Hertzberg, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, M. J. Ellem, and Atlee R. Ayres. They form one-third of the board's membership.

Why the Caller's editor should consider it necessary to allude to these women's attitude toward the question of equal suffrage is not at all clear. Whether one or all espouses the cause we do not know and certainly, like the flowers that bloom in the spring, it has nothing to do with the case. In the very sentence that contains that inappropriate allusion, is found the reason why these three women were nominated for the San Antonio school board: the position of school trustee is a position which by each of them "may be filled with singular advantage, since schools and homes are but slightly removed, one from the other."

These San Antonio women are well known and highly regarded through Texas for their work in behalf of civic betterment, school betterment, community betterment, socially and morally. They are intelligent, capable, zealous women with a zeal well directed. Their judgment and their ability to direct the all-important interests of the public schools is respected by the city that is the better for their work. The question of their attitude toward the equal suffrage crusade does not enter into consideration of their ability to serve the people and the home as school trustees.

San Antonio did not foist that stale "their place is in the home" male political trick, it did not ask whether these good women want the ballot. The suffrage matter, then, is not relevant to such an issue. The attempt has been made here in Waco, in connection with the campaign of the Mothers' ticket for the school board, to "pull" this same chestnut in behalf of the incumbents by one who has opened the valve in his tear ducts in a vain effort to arouse sympathy where there is no occasion for sympathetic defence. It is absurd child's play, and will come to nothing. Direct slurs that the women of the Mothers' ticket are clamorers for the ballot, or (more often) innuendo to that effect, is type wasting. The women of the Mothers' ticket are seeking election to the school board in behalf of better conduct of the schools' interests and the children's, and that the modernization of methods they propose may be assured by a majority of the board favorable to their proposal, the women have nominated two capable citizens of Waco as candidates with them. That is the situation in a sentence.

Is the aspiration of women to serve school, home and city by having a voice in the school system's affairs, officially, an offshoot of the equal suffrage movement? Is it? The city of Boston, five years before there was anything like an organized equal suffrage crusade in this country, amended its laws so that women might vote in school board and school affairs elections. Several other American cities long have accorded the women, the mothers, this right. Coming nearer home, women vote in school elections in Louisville, Ky., and how pronounced is the equal suffrage demand in Kentucky, thus far? Within ten years every American city of consequence will not only permit women to vote in school elections, but will permit them to serve the school system in every capacity besides that of underpaid and overworked teacher.

Waco will get in line next month, and another chapter will be removed from the volume of antiquities offered as a text-book for "Waco's progress."

FATE OF THE BOEHMER BILL.

The renewed assurances (or warnings) from Austin that the governor will veto the bill by Mr. Boehmer of Eagle Pass, where Mexicans become a political factor before their sandals are dry of passage of the Rio Grande, and before they pass on to become political factors in San Antonio and other Texas paradises of their migrant horde, convey no new lesson. Veto was expected. We will not say it was expected because as a rule, in Texas cities the "Mexican-American" population votes "right," but merely because it votes strongly. To bar illiterates from the United States and to permit illiterates to vote, or to permit illiterates to vote who can neither read nor speak the language of the country for whose public servants they are voting (to put it according to the facts) are two very different matters. We are uncompromisingly opposed to the literacy "test" for immigrants, for we believe the immigrant is to be made a citizen by education and environment in the land he seeks. But we are as uncompromisingly in favor of a test for the franchise that will require the prospective voter to read the language of the land of which he seeks to be a citizen, a voter. The Boehmer bill is not a literacy test in any sense. It merely provides that a man shall be able to mark his own ballot. A Mexican, for example, may be well able to read and write Spanish and not be able to read a word of English. He is literate, however, though he cannot mark a ballot in Eagle Pass. But he is also a tool, a politician's tool. The ballot is marked for him and for the politician. Perhaps the governor doesn't realize that in state after state public sentiment has protested against the ignorant vote, against the voter that cannot tell for whom and for what he is voting. Perhaps he doesn't realize that in state after state a man must draw from a wheel a card printed with an excerpt from the state constitution, and read it to the registration clerk, before he shall be registered as a voter. Perhaps he does not realize this is a measure of protection against the corruption and control of political rings.

Such safeguarding of the ballot is considered necessary in so many states—a voter must know what he is doing, that he may not be obliged to do as he is told or be an easy victim in what is done for him—but it is not, of course, necessary in Texas, where there are no political machines, bosses and proxy-marked ballots. Let the Boehmer bill be vetoed, of course; it is still possible to corral the ignorant in precinct headquarters, display a sample ballot on a board and show 'em where to scratch. City jobs are still the chief prize of victory at the polls in many broad-minded Texas communities.

RELATIONS WITH CHINA.

The wall that is going up from the nondemocratic press, especially from the Progressive party's press, that the decision of Mr. Wilson in the matter of the Chinese loan will destroy in a flash this country's opportunity to benefit in the "open door" rehabilitation of the celestial republic that we have striven so long to bring about, is wholly absurd, apart from the inspiration of it. The new China is to be a nation of resources developed, of agriculture and agricultural trade, with its concomitant need of international commerce in providing facilities to make the most of such development. It is to be a nation of industries. The facilities for these industries must be imported. No nation can supply what the United States supplies in agricultural and industrial machinery. The United States will supply tools and experts in the use of tools and machinery to the Chinese republic many fold more than it did to the Chinese empire, while it was the chief factor in the awakening of the empire to modern life, progress and the realization of its unbounded wealth. Progressive Chinese, leaders in government, industry and education, owe their progressiveness to American universities and American manufacturing interests, to observation of an experience in American methods. That this nation has elected to pursue a financial policy adverse to the making of huge loans to foreign governments cannot possibly result in detriment to its trade. China needs American imports, American products, American implements and Americans to cooperate with its new, untapped republicanism in assuring nation-wide development.

The liberal outlook and constructive purpose of the new Chinese government are attested by the emphasis it is placing on agricultural development," the Atlanta Journal comments. The present administration proposes to gather from all parts of the world knowledge concerning the methods and results of farming and then to disseminate it through China's rural districts. In addition to this agricultural schools will be established and the adoption of up to date means of cultivation and harvesting and marketing will be encouraged.

The vice-minister of agriculture and forestry in the republic (the Journal notes) is a Chinese graduate of an American college and he has as his assistants men who have been literally educated abroad. This department will issue a magazine on farming and will conduct a systematic, far-reaching campaign in the interest of scientific agriculture. Such enterprise indicates the breadth and foresight of the men who are leaders in the new era that has dawned for the Chinese people. Having overthrown the tyranny of the old empire, they are now laboring to build freedom upon an enduring foundation. They realize that the security of the republic lies in the enlightenment and progress of its citizens. They know that there cannot be political liberty without economic liberty, that the new government must be judged by the measure of prosperity and contentment it vouchsafes the people; that the principles on which the republic has been reared must be wrought into practical benefits. And so, as one of its earliest tasks, the administration seeks to foster and develop the natural resources of the land. The new China has many obstacles to overcome, but so long as it adheres to such constructive methods its future is promising.

And for the assurance of the success of these constructive methods, China will not permit its policy of development of natural resources to be hampered by refusing trade and cooperation with the nation that has done most to make possible this attempt, of what that nation's foreign loan policy may be.

Texas Viewpoints.

'Twas Ever Thus.

Houston is such a sleepy old town that one of its citizens slept for five weeks. That is pretty hard on the Bayou City.—Austin Statesman.

This short coming from Austin is especially hard on the Bayou City.—Fort Worth Record.

How Cruel of You!

As was to have been expected, the house and senate killed the club and liquor bills. The old couplet of "when the devil was sick," etc., will apply with much force at the present time. There was never any intention on the part of the majority to pass any restrictive legislation concerning the saloons. And everyone knew it.—Laredo Times.

Now, that's downright unkind! Everyone knows that the Battymore-Killjoy stuffed club bill got through the senate noisily, but was so unfortunate as to reach the house in its expiring hours, when the members were looking forward to quiet days in their dry town fraternal clubs, after eighty days of enforced shunning of private bars. Some of these dry towns have very attractive fraternal or social clubs (often both) whose members both use and abuse the good things of life, and thither go the inhibitive solons when on their native heath. These clubs represent "large investments"—as the buffet bills, Fort Worth and Louisville postmarks on the club mail prove, and the house really didn't have the heart to wreck these retreats of the goodly. But don't impute the sincerity of the "majority," in all fairness. Remember, the club drainage bill passed the senate.

Touching the Turk.

One reason why we are all down on the Turk is because the Turk mingles his own business and doesn't send missions over here to write books about our divorce system. And he doesn't try to rescue us from a condition in which twenty-five million people have twenty-five different religious beliefs.—Texas Republic (San Antonio).

In the main, Major Harris has suggested something worth thinking about. But not all of us, to be sure, are down on the Turk for that he possesses these negative virtues. In Europe, for example, they are down on him because he has abandoned the exclusive and noninterference virtue and has blundered into the initiative—attempting to imitate his "great" neighbors' greed for territory in other nations and on other continents. So England is down on him "morally," and Italy is down on him literally and his mosquito neighbors have fastened on him and his mammalian neighbors are about to swallow the mosquitos and the Turk with them. We fear the major hasn't much patience with the open collar, white lawn cravat, sort of drive about driving the Crescent out of Europe. The dying struggle in southeastern Europe, the major doubtless thinks, has been a conquest for cities, not a crusade for Christianity. We have long been of the same opinion. Now watch the powers "Christianize" Montenegro along the same lines!

Ask Us Something Hard.

If our legislators do not go to Austin for the pittance of $5 a day why is it that when the $5 drops down to $2 they are always in such a hurry to go home?—Bonham News.

Now, some persons might conclude that was a riddle as headachy and vexatious as "which would you rather do or go fishing?" but 'how long is a piece of string?" or "isn't. To be sure, there is a little catch in it, unless one is very familiar with the make-up of the Texas legislature. The answer is in the question itself. Sherlock Holmes-like, by a process of elimination. Drop the fifth word, and the question then becomes so simple, as well as so true to the facts, that an answer to it is unnecessary and the question itself becomes almost absurd.

PRAETORIANS TO BUILD IN WACO

QUESTION NOW TO BE DECIDED IS HOW HIGH SKYSCRAPER WILL GO.

LIVE TALKS AT THE BANQUET

Dallas Visitors Who Are Supreme Officers Admit the Growth of This City—Meeting Today.

That Waco will have a Praetorian building located on the lot owned by that organization at Sixth and Franklin streets commensurate with the demands of the city and the growth of the organization, was the statement of national officers of the organization at the public installation of Officers and banquet of Central Texas Council No. 574 and Waco Council 265, at the Knights of Columbus hall last night. Just how many stories the new structure will be was not announced. This matter will be definitely settled at a business meeting of the building committee of the organization to be held this morning.

JUDGE TOM L. McCULLOUGH

Installation of Officers.
More than 300 persons were in attendance when the officers of the two councils were installed. The work of installation was conducted by C. B. Gardner of Dallas, supreme president of the Praetorians. The officers were attired in the regalia of their various ranks, and the scene was a most impressive one. The following were the officers installed:

Central Texas Council No. 574.—W. J. Terrell, sublime augustus; C. H. Phillips, senior tribune; Oscar Myre, junior tribune; L. H. Hutchins, first centurion; H. S. Moore, worthy recorder; Mrs. M. A. Warner, worthy soothsayer; R. R. Glasson, worthy lykian; W. F. Mullins, worthy sentinel; H. W. Crews, worthy attorney; Mrs. Clemmie Echols, Praetorian queen. The trustees are John Maxwell, T. A. Hooks, Mrs. R. R. McGlasson.

Waco Council No. 265.—W. A. Laughlin, sublime augustus; T. W. Singleary, senior tribune; Oscar Myre, junior tribune; L. H. Hutchins, first centurion; H. S. Moore, worthy recorder; Mrs. C. H. Mayers, worthy soothsayer; C. H. Alexander, worthy lykian; R. G. Ard, worthy attorney; Mrs. R. H. Alexander, Praetorian queen. The trustees are Stark West, A. Y. Moorefield and J. H. Farmer. Officers are elected for one year.

Judge Tom L. McCullough, master of ceremonies, introduced President Gardner. Following the installation of the officers, W. A. Laughlin made a short talk, in which he said he hoped to see the membership of the order increase 100 per cent in the next year.

W. J. Terrell followed, and said: "We are engaged in a great work, from which there are three benefits, social, fraternal and insurance. The Praetorians is a Texas organization and I am proud that a Texas man has the ability to organize the order and keep the money in Texas and to so manage the organization that it can compete favorably with any organization in the United States."

W. C. Coffe, known as the father of council No. 265, said: "I remember as if it were tonight, the first installation of officers of the Praetorians. We used sacks then as regalia. But now I am thinking of the building we are promised. I had a whole lot to do with the lot on which this building is to stand, and I want to see a fine building there."

Order Fifteen Years Old.
Adjournment was then taken to the banquet room downstairs, where seats for 350 were provided. Oscar Myre delivered the invocation, after which the banquet was served.

Judge McCullough as toastmaster, then addressed the gathering and said: "The Praetorian organization is a Texas organization. It is a Texas order, and some years ago we were promised a building and now we are to have the promise fulfilled. We have the best improved lot in Waco, and now the question is not are we to have a building, but what size building are we to have."

Welcome by the Mayor.
He then introduced Mayor James H. Mackey, who welcomed the distinguished visitors, and the Praetorians. Mayor Mackey said: "I have always been thankful for banquets, and the safety of banquets for banquets always lighten all ills. I want to present the Waco loving cup to our distinguished guests and every man, woman and child here tonight and I want all to take enough welcome, cheer and friendship to make all their friends enough that there will be no bitter memories and we want to proclaim to our guests that we are growing, and that we are ready to welcome them, to make their interests our interests and to this I pledge the whole of Waco."

A. C. Patton, representing the Waco Ad Club, was the next speaker. Mr. Patton reviewed the history of Waco, recounted the experiences of the earliest settlers, and reviewed the progress of the past forty years. Among other things he said: "On March 1, 1849, Major Erath surveyed the first block in Waco on the bank of the Brazos, at the foot of what is now Bridge street. Capt. S. P. Ross bought the first lot for $200. George Harrison bought the third lot for $17.50. Less than forty years afterwards only a few days ago, the lot at Eighth street sold for $75,000. This is the lot Capt. Ross bought for $200." He reviewed the building activities of the city and said in closing, "Praetorians, we welcome you to our city and urge you to erect a building in keeping with the noble order which you represent, and make that building large enough to meet the demands of a city of 100,000 people in fifteen years."

C. B. Gardner of Dallas.
President C. B. Gardner of Dallas was the next speaker. His toast was "Our Future in Waco." He said: "I don't know how to tell you our future in this city; time alone can tell that. A few years ago we bought a lot in Waco, but the area covered by it was so small that it was not worth the money we paid for it. We noticed that Waco was growing, so we came to investigate and found Waco had grown larger than our lot so we bought another lot. Now we are here to size up the town, and in two or three weeks we will decide just what kind of big building we will erect. We are not going to outdo things, but what we do will be a credit to the city. The building will be a first class one, fire proof and modern. We hear so much about money, and mortgage and buildings of an insurance company, but the great building of all insurance companies is to protect life. Fraternal insurance is the unseen force of brotherhood, and is man's greatest bond."Col. Abe Gross.
Col. Abe Gross, representing the Chamber of Commerce, spoke on "Waco's Future." Mr. Gross said in part: "Realizing what Waco is today and what she was three years ago, one must admit some one has done a great work. This some one or something is the commercial organizations. These organizations made it possible to erect the big building which we are proud, and that building awaits for its companion a like one to be erected by your organization. "Waco is the hub city.""Within a radius of 100 miles of Waco one-fourth the cotton of the world is grown."
"Cite the Katy improvements of $1,500,000, which has made Waco the center from which this great system taps every portion of the state, the interurban line, of which you have heard so much, will have Waco as its base, again and not the least to be considered is the big power plant which will be erected here to send its lightning sparks to all cities surrounding Waco. We have a city of parks, a university unexcelled anywhere, a fire department which in proportion to the size of the city is not equalled anywhere. A veritable health resort. A few years ago we had a population of 26,000. Now we have 49,000. Thirteen railroads go in every direction from Waco and every man, woman and child is a booster. The Brazos river is to be made navigable and Waco, once the sleeping village on the Brazos, has awakened to her own."I. Friedlander.
I. Friedlander, representing the Y. M. C. A., spoke to the toast, "Waco's Awakening." He said in part: "We want to treat you as a host. We are kind as the Dallas ball team treated us today. But to the subject, Waco was asleep years ago. It was a sort of self-sufficiency. They thought because they had the climate, soil and location and railway outlets the town must grow. She has gotten out of it. The town awakened when the Cotton Palace was built, because that was a melting pot in which all differences were settled."Louis Blaylock of Dallas.
Louis Blaylock of Dallas, vice president of the juvenile association charged that dancing in Waco by persons of social prominence encouraged and lavished forms of dancing among poor girls who were proud to imitate them. No worse influence could be exerted, he said.

Corone Hoffman was ordered suspended by Mr. O'Hara at the conclusion of the session. Mr. Hoffman will be asked as to the number of suicides of girls in "shady" hotels and resorts. Witnesses today suggested that the number might be considerable if the records of the coroner's office were examined.

Favors Nation Clause.
Washington, April 11.—President Wilson does not believe congress should repeal the favored nation clause of the tariff law under which trade conditions have heretofore been made with other countries. good; we have sent governors, congressmen and senators from Waco, and though Waco has not always had the Katy shops and such improvements, we have built a city of people of commerce and prosperity. That's the city we ask you to come and build in. Your investment will be safe. We are going forward, not a bunch of boosters, but a bunch of doers.

L. N. Stanley of Marlin was the next speaker. He spoke briefly, thanking the gathering for the pleasant time he had spent in Waco and said he felt more than ever that Waco and Marlin were neighbors.Visitors Are Shown City.
The state officers of the Praetorians and members of the building committee from out of the city were taken for an automobile trip about Waco yesterday afternoon by a citizens' committee and local members of the Praetorians. The automobiles were furnished by W. W. Cameron, H. M. Ladd, Walter G. Lacey, E. Roten, R. T. Dennis, F. E. McLarty, E. W. Marshall and E. F. Drake. The representatives of the local lodge of Praetorians were Judge McCullough, W. A. Laughlin, H. M. White, Stark West, J. Terrell, J. S. South, Dr. I. E. Colgin and Dr. Waco.

The drive covered the following districts: Eighth street to Franklin, Franklin to Third, Austin street to Twentieth, Franklin street to Twentieth, and Twentieth-fifth street to the Kansas City. At the club lunch served following the drive, a visit was made to Highland Park, through President Heights to Eighteenth street, to West avenue to Fifteenth street from Fifteenth street to Herring avenue to Cameron Park, from Fifth street to Washington, to the Katy yards, to Baylor.

The visiting officers were President C. B. Gardner, Dallas; Vice President Louis Blaylock, Dallas; and L. N. Stanley, Marlin. These gentlemen and Tom L. McCullough of Waco composed the building committee of the order. This committee will meet this morning and discuss further plans for building.

HOTELS AID GIRLS' DOWNFALL

Clerk Testifies Before Illinois Vice Commission—Coroner Subpoenaed as Witness.

Chicago, April 11.—Testimony as to the assistance of certain downtown hotels in furthering the downfall of young girls was given at today's session of the Illinois legislative vice commission which is attempting to uncover reasons why girls drift into immoral lives.

Young women are often brought in taxis in a state of intoxication to hotels, said George Tollen, an employee of a hotel a few doors from detective headquarters.

Mrs. Gertrude How Britton, president of the juvenile association charged that dancing in Waco by persons of social prominence encouraged and lavished forms of dancing among poor girls who were proud to imitate them. No worse influence could be exerted, he said.

Corone Hoffman was ordered suspended by Mr. O'Hara at the conclusion of the session. Mr. Hoffman will be asked as to the number of suicides of girls in "shady" hotels and resorts. Witnesses today suggested that the number might be considerable if the records of the coroner's office were examined.

The Waco Navigators awaited their way to victory yesterday 5 to 1 in the second game with Cavender's Dallas Giants. Errors and loose playing by the Giants helped Carson's men materially. The pitching of Ollie Jost was far superior to that of Schwenk, who did the heaving for the visitors, although Jackley connected with a fast one in the second inning and clouted the leather clear into Webster street for a home run, marking the only tally the enemy got across during the nine innings.

The fast playing of the Navigators was a far different class of ball than that of Thursday, when the Giants trimmed them in the opening contest. Carson's men, too, were more able with the stick and found Schwenk without difficulty. Besides the hits came at the opportune time.

The cold wind that swept the park may have been partly responsible for the loose playing of the Giants, but it served to invigorate the Wacoans and caused them to play with more pep and life than ever. It was with an air of confidence that Carson's crew entered the game. Jost settled down to real pitching right in the beginning and never wavered. Carson started as his receiving mate and had to quit in the sixth inning with a finger out of place. The accident occurred in a close play when Wilson on third and Storch on first tried to pull off a double steal. Carson shot the ball to Duguey at second and received it back at the plate in time to tag out Wilson. In sliding, Wilson came into Carson with terrific force. When the players got to their feet, the Waco manager discovered that he had his digit pointing wrong.

The hitting of McMahone and Crichlow were the features of the stick work. Red got a double and a single and a walk out of four trips to the plate, and Crichlow annexed three singles out of three trips. Beck also got a double and a single, but his bingles did not come at opportune times.

Kellerman, who was ruled off the field in the opening game for protesting, was the first man up for Dallas and he drew a walk, but was thrown out at second trying to steal. Duncan was out on an infield grounder. Wilson singled to center and was out trying to steal.

There were three balls and two strikes on Beck when he lifted a liner into Deiser's hand in left field. McMahon drove the first ball pitched to him into center field for a single, but was caught off first and run down between first and second. The Waco players protested, saying the pitcher made a balk, but the umpire kept the game going. McLaurin was out at first on a grounder to the pitcher.

The second inning put a little more life in the Dallas team, when with one down Jackley came to the bat and lifted the ball over the left field barrier, but Tullos and Boone were easy outs.

The last half of the inning did not net Waco anything save a single from Crichlow's bat after Wohleben and Renard were out on infield grounders. Crichlow was out trying to steal. The Dallas players went in one-two-three over the next two innings.

In the second inning, Waco started the fireworks. Duguey struck out and Carson singled to the short field. Jost struck out and Beck came to the bat. He doubled to right field, putting Carson on third. The crowd cheered when McMahon came to the bat. He rounded by clouting the leather against the center field fence for a two-bagger, scoring Carson and Beck. McLaurin drove a hot liner to Wilson at first, which he handled very neatly.

The scoring stopped for a couple of innings, although in the fifth, with two down, Boone tripled to center field, the ball falling just a few feet short of the fence. Jost walked Weiser and Schwenk was out from Beck to Wohleben. Waco had men on bases both in the fourth and fifth innings, but failed to do anything until the sixth. McLaurin opened the inning with a double to right and went to third on Wohleben's grounder to the pitcher. Wohleben being out at first, McLaurin grounded to the pitcher and it took a quick throw and called for a close decision to stop McLaurin from scoring. Renard went to second on a passed ball by Catcher Jackley and came home on Crichlow's third single of the game to left, which was not fielded clearly by Weiser. Crichlow getting to second on the same play. He took a long lead and caused the pitcher to throw to second until the ball finally hit Crichlow's leg and rolled far into right field. He scored from third when Duguey pounded a hot one to Storch, who fumbled the ball. Duguey ended the inning by going out trying to steal.

Waco scored again in the eighth. McMahon walked. McLaurin attempted to sacrifice and was safe at first and went to second when Schwenk threw wild to first. McMahon came home when Kellerman made a wild heave to throw him out at third base. McLaurin was out trying to make third on the same play. Wohleben grounded out to the infield. Renard smashed out a double that went all-

Heavy hitting by the Crabs featured the game, just six extra base hits being annexed by the visitors. The locals came within one of tying the score in the sixth, but had no chance after that.

WACO UP IN PHOTOGRAPHY
Motion Pictures of Ball Players on Opening Day By Gildersleeve
Show Immense Crowd.

Some of the best pictures of ball players ever taken were secured by P. A. Gildersleeve, local photographer. He snapped many of the pictures during the spring practice season and took several views of the opening game with Dallas Thursday. The pictures are the best evidence produced that the grandstand and bleachers were filled to capacity.

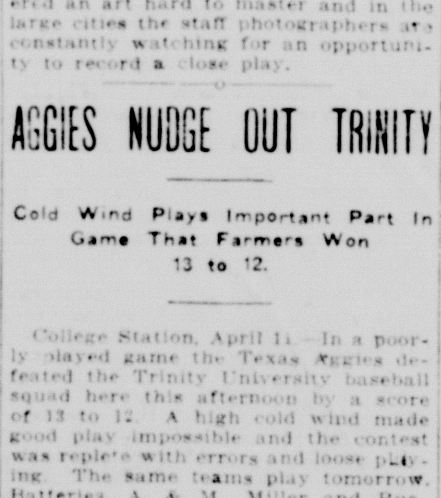

The individual pictures of the players show that Waco is not a minute behind the times when it comes to making photographs. This is considered an art hard to master, and in the large cities the staff photographers are constantly watching for an opportunity to record a close play.

Aggies Nudge Out Trinity
College Station, April 11.—In a poorly played game the Texas Aggies defeated the Trinity University baseball squad here this afternoon by a score of 13 to 12. A high cold wind made good play impossible and the contest was replete with errors and loose playing. The same teams play tomorrow. Batters, A. & M. Miller and Russell; Trinity, Ferguson and Parker.

Pinchurst, N. C. April 11.—A nine-hole hole-in by Robert Hunter of Weeburn, Conn., from N. Woodland, Massachusetts; H. C. Fowkes of Oakmont, Penn.

DUAL MEET TODAY

CAPTAIN PONDER OF BAYLOR
TRACK TEAM READY FOR EVENT.

Southwestern College Will Have a Strong Team to Contest for Honors at Carroll Field.

Baylor University's track team will make its formal debut for 1913 on Carroll field this afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the squad from Southwestern will come here for the only inter-collegiate dual meet that will be held in Waco this year. The weather promises to be crisp enough to put the men in fine fettle, and some records may be established.

Due to the fact that Ralph Glaze, coach at Baylor, has been so largely absorbed in coaching the baseball team, Dr. Braun, a physical director of large experience and former Vanderbilt star, now living in Waco, is assisting in the training of the track squad and they expect the locals to make a strong showing against the visitors today.

Captain Ponder and Manager Penrod have been giving close attention to the development of their team, also, and they predict a victory for the men, though they recognize that they will have to put up a strong contest to make this possible. Ponder is the best all-around track man in Baylor and is expected to make a good showing. McConnell, the star pitcher of the baseball team, will be in the long and high jumps, while Isaacs, Bernhauser, Cox and Brady promise to do well in handling the weights. Penrod is good on short distance runs, and Smith has a good record for the 100-yard dash. A sufficient number of men will be entered in each event to make a strong contest, it is believed, though many of the entries have never been in a contest before and have not had an opportunity to show what they can do under such circumstances.

Today's event will determine the representation which Baylor will send to the state track meet at Brownwood May 7 and 8, and it is likely that Southwestern's squad will also be reckoned upon the results.

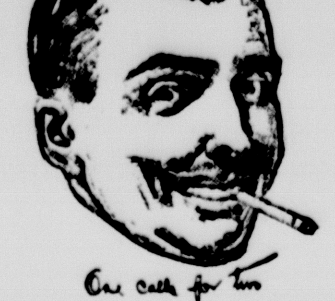

The meet will be a swift one from the time it starts at 2 o'clock until the final whistle and some good records are looked for in several events.

Mothers Club Ticket and Mothers Club Platform

Executive Committee Appeals to the Voters to Support the Candidates—Ask for Voting Box in Each Ward.

The following is the announcement of the Mothers' club, ticket and platform by the executive committee:

In presenting our ticket, Messrs. J. M. Nash and W. W. Lastinger and Mesdames Claypool and Harmon, to the voters of Waco for school trustees, we do so disclaiming any offense towards any member of the present board or any candidate who may oppose us. We insist that our efforts are not directed against the present superintendent or his administration. We merely exercise the right of citizenship, and by our efforts hope to arouse more public interest in the election of trustees, thereby directing more attention to the needs of the schools. Our desire is to cooperate with the board, having in view a more progressive policy and better equipment, thereby raising our schools to a standard more commensurate with the size and progressiveness of our city.

With this object in view, we submit the following planks:

First—Women on the Board.

Their presence on the board will give all mothers the proper medium through which to reach the school board and on all questions of hygiene, sanitation, far-sighted economy and discipline. They can be of invaluable training and experience. Above all, they will take time to attend to the housekeeping needs of the schools.

Second—Publicity.

The progressive and eminently successful slogan of all school boards has become, "Take the public into confidence," and let it know just how its own money is being expended, and its business interests conducted. Executive meetings may be held by all boards when necessary. So high an authority as President Wilson, ex-president of the Princeton university, attributes much of his success to publicity of all meetings.

Third—Drinking Fountains to Be Installed in All Schools.

The taking precedence over all contemplated improvements. Also, that the fountains be placed where they will be accessible to the children.

Fourth—Equal Consideration for Men and Women as to Position and Salary.

This means a tendency to treat the women with more justice as regards their ability to fill any position for which she has the necessary qualifications. Furthermore, we believe that merit should be recognized in selecting teachers.

We appeal to the voters of Waco to support our ticket for the above reasons and others that will appear in the papers from time to time over our signatures. We ask that a voting box be opened in each ward, that the voters may be subjected to the inconvenience of all going to one box, as in the past.

The mothers have a vital interest in the schools. They manifest that interest by working for their improvement, and are willing to sacrifice their time and strength for their advancement because it is their duty. The school becomes a home for the children for more than half of their daily life and upon the school's training and development of the child mind, the mothers are dependent in a large measure for the physical and moral well being of their children. And to a still greater extent is the child dependent upon the schools for his future or success in life.

This being true, how can any voter make a mistake in voting for what the mothers of the children in the schools advocate? Their thoughts and hearts are in this school work.

The men on our ticket have been selected because of their business ability and active sympathy with this platform. They promise to give their time, thought and earnest attention to the needs of the schools. We believe that if our ticket is given a trial it will be able to accomplish many good things, and all through earnest effort, cooperation and harmony.

Respectfully submitted,

Demurrage Hearing Ends.

Galveston, Tex., April 11.—The hearing of the Galveston demurrage case before Ward Frouty of the interstate commerce commission came to a close just before 11 o'clock today when steamship agents reached an agreement providing for the appointment of a representative of the commission to stay here and settle demurrage disputes between railroads and steamship agents at Galveston, Texas City and Port Bolivar. The hearing began Monday and would have ended Tuesday except that the agreement reached today was rejected at that time.

NEARLY BLEW UP BIG BATTLESHIP

STORY OF SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR IS TOLD FOR THE FIRST TIME.

MISSED BY ONLY FEW FEET

Supply Ship Resolute, Floating Mine, Came Near an Ace Ramming Her.

In the April number of the Master, Mate and Pilot appears an article by "Lieut. B. B. M. G." telling how the United States supply ship Resolute, commanded by the late Admiral Joseph G. Eaton and loaded with explosives, narrowly missed ramming and blowing up the battleship Oregon at the time of the Spanish-American war. The account says in part: "The recent death of Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton, U. S. N., retired, unseals the lips of those of us who served under him when he was commander of the U. S. S. Resolute during the Spanish-American war, and permits the relating of one of the most extraordinary incidents in which a ship ever figured.

"It was on June 5, only a few days after the Oregon anchored off Santiago and her memorable voyage had become history, that the Resolute, carrying mail for the fleet, was in sight. In our forepeak and against the fore bulkhead were piled forty mines, each containing 500 pounds of gunpowder. Twenty charges for the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius, containing 10,000 pounds of gunpowder, were on the deck below.

"Just aft of this was 500 pounds of gunpowder for the great guns of the fleet. Still further aft were thousands of rounds of rapid fire ammunition for six-pounders and four-inch and six-inch guns, while on the upper deck, in one of the cabins, was 250 pounds of dry gunpowder and detonators for the warheads of torpedoes—the full complement of twenty-five battleships.

"We steamed down the line of blockading ships and delivered orders and mail to the vessels of the squadron. Arriving at the western end of the line we came about and steamed back to the eastward toward Guantanamo, which was our station. The Oregon at this time was near the center of the line, about opposite the harbor entrance, lying with her bow toward the shore and rolling heavily in the swell raised by a monsoon. We steamed full speed toward her, pointing about for her amidships.

"I was off duty and chanced to be standing aft, near the engine room hatch. Near me Past Assistant Engineer Louis L. Bernier was leaning against the rail, gazing ahead of the Oregon. It looked as if we would pass her very close if we steamed off at once, but we held straight on our course, heading right at her.

"Lieut. Bernier had been chief engineer of the Resolute—for many years, so he knew to a inch what she could and would do under any condition. "I saw him look hard ahead and then jump for the engine room hatch and disappear. But a moment or two elapsed; we were rapidly nearing the Oregon and still held straight toward her. Then suddenly the engines trembled convulsively as the engines reversed at full power.

"An instant later from the bridge came the signal 'full speed astern.' With helm hard over we swung past the stern of the Oregon so close that she tossed a black cloud of smoke and steam, which looked like a vast tide of rock wash in the waves.

"The men who lined the rail on the Oregon apparently thought nothing of the closeness of our passage, as if they deemed no unarmored craft could do her any harm, but the white cloud of her arm, with the hot wind, was a relief. They had faced annihilation, utter, absolute.

"Until now this remarkable story has never been made public. Commander Eaton may have reported it incident to the war department, but if he did so his officers were not so informed. Naturally, we were careful to forget all about it."

THE "BLOWOUT" IN KANSAS.

Carries Away Crop and Also Beat of the Soil.

In Western Kansas the "blowout" has been as great a source of damage to the wheat fields as the drought or chinch bugs or hot winds. In the event of a drought there is always some hope of rain, with the hot winds there is hope of a cool spell, while the ravages of the chinch bugs may be checked in two or three ways.

With the "blowout" there is absolutely no hope left, and not only the wheat crop gone for good, but the ground sometimes is left in bad condition. The "blowout" is little understood, says the Kansas City Star, by any one except the person who has witnessed a dust storm. Several years ago the "blowout" was much more common than now, although there is some damage in western counties every year from this source.

The damage comes not only to the fields that have been blown out, but the adjoining fields, on to which the "drifting soil" has blown in great clouds and settled, have suffered likewise, and where pastures have been known to be destroyed by the same means. For several years the farmers have been working night and day to devise some method to prevent the damage from "drifting soil" or "blowouts" as they are more commonly known.

Senator Malone has introduced in the Kansas legislature a bill providing that the county commissioners of any county where a "blowout" has commenced may call in agricultural experts and devise ways of stopping the drifting. The farmers in Thomas county held a meeting in Colby a few days ago to discuss the situation and if possible arrive at some means by which the drifting of soil might be stopped from destroying the crops. These farmers reported that a strip of land between Colby and Rexford about fifteen miles long and five miles wide, had been blown out last season and in that territory not a single root of vegetation remained and the top of the ground is as hard as the pavement on any street in Kansas City. The ground as far down as the plough went has been completely blown away. When these fields were blown out the wheat was several inches high and

BRUNETTES VS. BLONDES.

Snub-Nosed, Dark-Complexioned Girls Make Best Workers.

(Chicago Tribune.)
"The girls with the convex forehead, the curved snub nose and the convex chin learn slowly, but become the most accurate and speedy employes in the factory once she has mastered her work."
"Blondes like variety, like to do different things. They like speculative lines and do not at all mind taking chances. They employ themselves with a number of things."
"Brunettes, on the other hand, generally are steady. They change less often and become specialists. They stick to one thing rather than the variety."

"Show me the boss, and I will tell you what kind of men and women work for him. Show me the employes and I'll give you a list of adjectives which will describe the boss."
These are some things learned by delegates to the Illinois Laundrymen's Association convention at the Hotel Sherman. Dr. Katherine M. H. Blackford was the speaker. Her text was "The Scientific Selection, Assignment and Management of Employees."

"You are facing a crisis," she said. "In your professional life because of changes in legislation and in conditions—a crisis which will materially affect you. The minimum wage and the ten-hour law applying to women seem to make for a tremendous extra expense."
"Not necessarily. So select your workers that you will obtain from them more and better work for less money. The proposition of paying more money for less hours is a serious one."
"You cannot go about the assignment of your help in a haphazard manner; you must cease to guess. You must have exact knowledge. Bear always in mind three things—the work, the worker and the boss or supervisor."

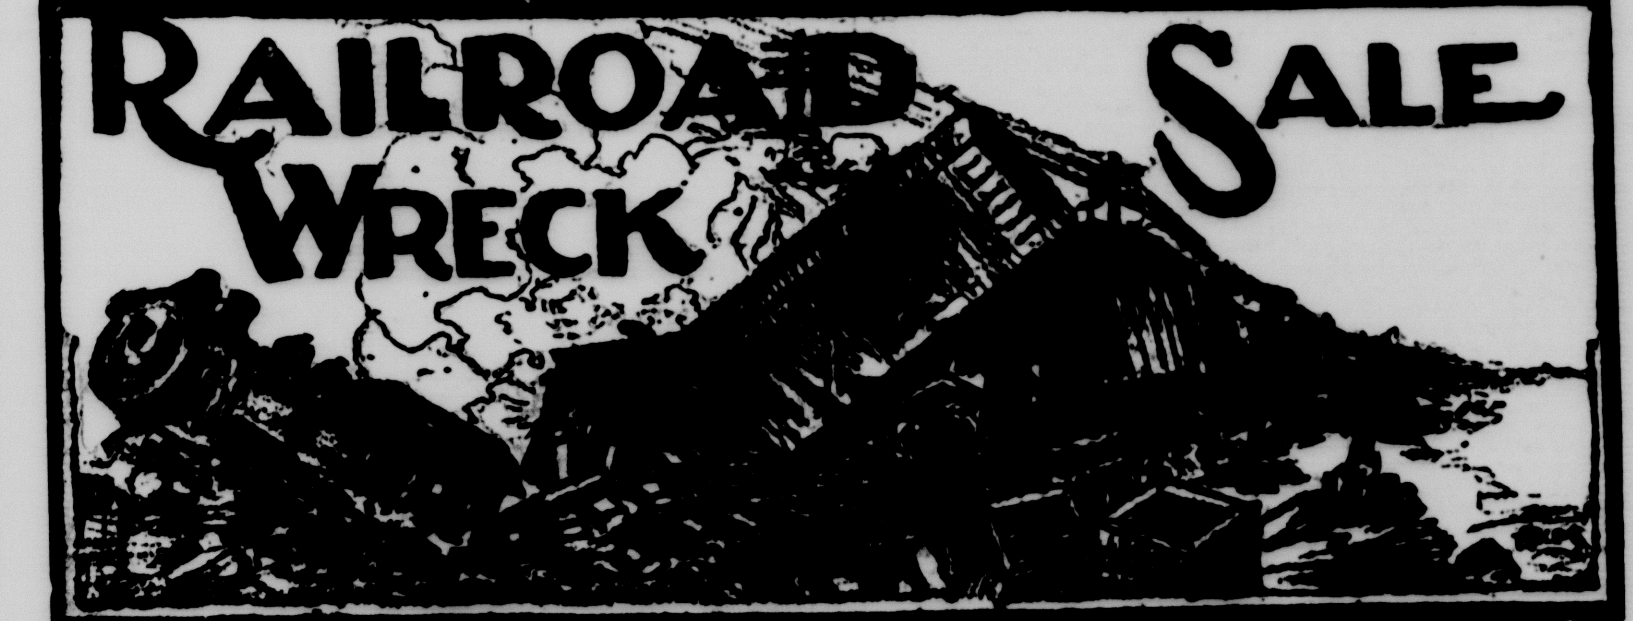

"Don't place a fat man in a position where he will have to stoop every few minutes."
"Don't give a short man a job where he has to reach. Put the long-legged angular individual into a position where he has to fetch and carry—that's the why of his legs."

"The girls as a rule quit after three years, just when they are beginning to be 100 per cent efficient. Select the girl who can be taught; see what she can do best; give her the proper conditions; see that she keeps herself healthy and the minimum wage law and the ten-hour statutes won't bother you."

Baile at Wedding Altar.

Philadelphia, April 11.—Assuming her woman prerogative, Flavinna Folcania, who came from Naples to this country to marry Vincenzo Tull, a prosperous Italian of Germantown, changed her mind when the ceremony was about to proceed yesterday. Tull awaited her arrival on the steamship Taormina with a marriage license and a priest in readiness, but she declared she was not ready. His descriptions of the wedding feast that had been prepared and the home awaiting her occupancy failed to move her and she left the wharf in company with her aunt, who had arranged the match by mail, declaring that she was not sure that she would ever marry Tull.

Talk of enjoining the city commission from parking Columbus street when that boulevard is paved, reached the ears of the commission yesterday, when W. S. Rathel, superintendent of the Texas Light and Power company, appeared before the commission in regular session and expressed the desire of his company to not purchase pipe for piping that street at this time. Mr. Rathel stated that his company would have to purchase 13,400 feet of 4-inch pipe to pipe both sides of the street if it was paved, and told the commission that as there was talk of enjoining the parking of the street he did not want to purchase this pipe until he knew whether it would be used. Asked if it could not be used for other purposes if not used in this work, he replied that his company did not want to carry that much stock on hand.

No action was taken on his request. The talk of enjoining the parking of the street is said to have arisen because some property owners believe that to park it would leave too narrow a driveway. The commission did not discuss the matter further.

During the discussion of the parking of Columbus street, Commissioner Littlefield reported that the water department had made the statement that it would not comply with the rule of the commission to place pipes in the park as it would be too expensive, entailing a cost of about $100,000. Commissioner Gorman said, "We have the same jurisdiction over the water department as over any other public service corporation." The matter was dropped.

Post Causes an Overflow.

A committee of ladies representing the Hebrew Rest Cemetery association appeared before the commission, regarding the placing of a post in the cemetery by the Texas Light and Power company, which caused the water from the streets to flow into the cemetery. J. Friedlander acted as spokesman for the ladies. The matter was referred to the commissioner of streets with instructions to have the defect arranged immediately.

Goodman Can Place Benches.

J. Goodman, jeweler, was given permission to place benches, bearing his advertisement at points over the city, to be used as places of rest. This permission was granted after Mr. Goodman presented a letter to the commission from Mrs. E. J. Lennox, president of the city federation of Women's clubs, in which she sanctioned the idea.

On report of residents that some person was fencing up River street between Clay and Webster the commission instructed the city marshal to investigate and take action.

Application of W. S. Lee.

A corrugated awning at 307 Elm street, of Jeff Williams to erect metal barber shop sign on Fourth street, of owner of property to remodel store front at 415 Austin street, of M. J. Lacy to repair roof at 627 Austin street were granted, the work to be done under the supervision of the fire marshal. The Archibald company was given permission to erect electric sign on building at Fourth and Austin.

A communication was read from the Chamber of Commerce asking the commission to have the special lights burning last night because of the visit of the national officers of the Prætorians. Because of the short space of time this request could not be granted.

Commissioner Canfield was instructed to supply the firemen with a band to head their parade on April 21, which is annual inspection day, as well as San Jacinto Day the following day.

Traction Company Makes Purchase.

Dallas, Tex., April 11.—Announcement of the purchase of terminal property in Greenville, Texas, for $25,000 was made here today by the East Texas Traction company which is building an interurban between Dallas and Greenville. The company announces it will spend $15,000 in improving the property at Greenville.

Murder Trial at Denton, Texas.

Denton, Tex., April 11.—A motion for continuance in the Claude Cook case was overruled and the selection of a jury began today. The defendant is charged with the murder of his father-in-law, D. R. Hope, near here, June 4, 1912. The continuance here indicated a temporary insanity defense.

German Carries $14,000.

Philadelphia, April 11.—Immigration officials here were startled yesterday when Rudolph Gertzen, a German farmer in reply to the question as to whether he had $25,000, which was necessary before immigrants can land, carelessly pulled out of his pocket $14,000. The German had little difficulty in passing inspection with his wife and eight small children.

To Ask About the Prices Fixed North of Brook Avenue—Explanations
Come Readily.

A large representation of the property owners in the north end of Waco were present at the city hall yesterday to hear the explanation of the Somers system by William Young, the representative for the system here. Mr. Young displayed a map of the property north of Brook avenue, which showed the tentative unit-foot value. Among the property owners who attended the meeting were a number of ladies. A number of questions were asked concerning the system and Mr. Young and members of the board of equalization gave personal attention to each person who requested further explanation. The object of these meetings is to give property owners the opportunity to express themselves as to their idea of the correctness of the method of equalization.

A map will be on display this afternoon in the blue room of the city hall showing the land values south of Cleveland, the city limits and from the river to the city limits on the west. This map will be on display at 1 o'clock and the usual explanation will be made to the property owners, and property owners are given careful consideration by the board of equalization. Following is a list of the unit-foot values in the section that will be displayed this afternoon.

Boys' Dep't Grows in Prestige

You can trust the public to bestow its patronage upon the store most deserving of it—and for that reason our Boys' business increases season after season—as we demonstrate again and again the really exceptional advantages we offer.

To begin with, we provide more generously than anyone else. But mere size of stock isn't all. We provide with consistent care—aiming to improve; seeking betterment in Boys' wearables—always raising the standard without raising the price.

There are Many Reasons Why the Sanger
Boys' Department Is Supreme With Both Boys and Parents

Parents appreciate the responsibilities it assumes. You cannot make any selection here that is not guaranteed. WHAT WE ARE NOT WILLING TO SPONSOR, WE WILL NOT SELL. We control the makes of Boys' Clothing we handle. They are made as we want them made—the fabrics are critically selected; the models intelligently designed—and we have constantly in mind the heedlessness of the wearers—reinforcing every seam against the most severe strain. Greatness of business demands greatness of stock—so you find an assortment here that is not equaled elsewhere. Again, too, Sanger buying power prevails and you pay us less for better.

FEE FOR SURRATT

MAYOR BROUGHT UP THE QUESTION AT THE COMMISSION.

He Had Been Authorized to Employ Attorney for Charter Writers, But Committee Acted.

That although the city commission had given him authority to select an attorney to act as legal advisor to the charter committee, that committee had employed an attorney without consulting him, was the statement of Mayor J. H. Mackey at the commission meeting yesterday morning. The mayor further stated that the selection of the committee had made most entirely with his approval, and he had no criticism to advance.

The question came up when Commissioner Littlefield said the commission should take some action with reference to fixing a fee for Judge Marshall Surraatt, attorney for the charter committee, before the commissioners go out of office. The mayor stated he had never been empowered to employ an attorney and a stenographer for the committee. At this juncture Mayor Mackey stated he had never been consulted about the matter.

The question of what amount the fee should be then came up and on motion the mayor was authorized to confer with the chairman of the charter committee and Judge Surraatt, to fix the fee. He was also empowered to pay a fee of not more than $500. This fee provides for a finished job, the attorney employed being expected to continue at work on the charter until it is finally adopted.

The matter of a stenographer for the commission was not settled. The mayor stated, however, that until the actual work of writing the charter began it would possibly be better for Judge Surraatt to use his own stenographer.

The secretary was instructed to secure a copy of the enabling act for the charter committee. This is to settle whether the city can go outside its limits and condemn land for cemetery purposes.

The cost of an attorney for the committee came somewhat as a surprise to the commissioners. Commissioner Wright said he had expected it to be about $100, and the others thought likewise. However, it was stated that Judge Surraatt was doing practically all the work in connection with the charter.
